

YOUR WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

1 – 7 November, 2021

ARIES RISING

Your focus becomes quite intense this week, Aries, especially when it comes to finances, intimacy and sexuality. New and powerful beginnings could happen in this area, but first, you have let go and release any fear of change.

Your ruler, lady Venus, changes signs and moves into sensual, earthy Capricorn. For you, travelling and relationships can go hand in hand, or you're simply taking more pleasure in learning new information. Watch out for a new beginnings in love over the next several months.

TAURUS RISING

GEMINI RISING

On one hand, you could be feeling very hopeful, optimistic and joyous and on the other hand, dealing with potential manipulation and drama. Try and see the growth in all of this and it will bring you meaning instead of confusion.

The New Moon in Scorpio lights up your passion zone, Cancer, bringing you either new love, increased physical chemistry or igniting within you a fascinating hobby to enjoy over the next few months. Be aware that big feelings are also on the cards for you.

CANCER RISING

LEO RISING

Surprises can come out of nowhere this week, Leo, as your ruler, the Sun, meets up in an electrifying opposition with Uranus. This mainly happens in your career zone but can also disrupt your domestic life. go with the flow, not against it.

VIRGO RISING

Your ruler, Mercury, changes sign and enters your ideas and communication zone. This lends you an almost obsessive way of thinking and therapy of any kind can be extremely beneficial if you want to gain powerful new insights.

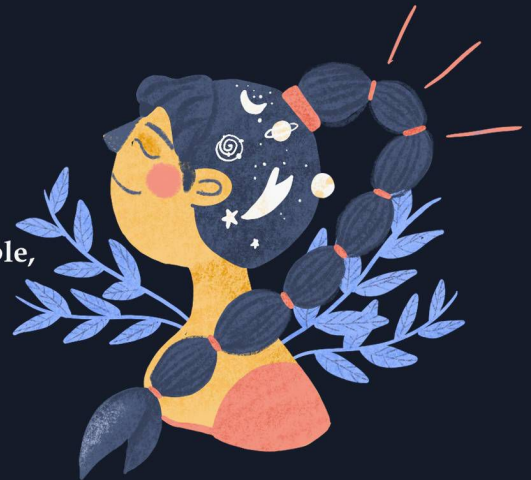

LIBRA RISING

Look for the good in this week, Libra, because there's plenty of it. You're broadening your mind and horizons and there's an air of optimism. This will help you overcome any drama happening at home. Things will start getting better here – promise.

SCORPIO RISING

This is your week, Scorpio! With a powerful New Moon in your sign, you're feeling ready to take on the world. But, you need to first think carefully about where you're headed. Things are still a bit unpredictable, and you need to be as flexible as you possibly can.

SAGITTARIUS RISING

It's time to structure your finances so that you can enjoy more of the good that life has to offer. It's a fine balance to strike now, where you are invited to indulge, within reason and limits. There are also quiet but powerful new beginnings happening behind the scenes for you with this New Moon.

CAPRICORN RISING

Venus, planet of love, pleasure and beauty, moves into your sign this week, Capricorn. This is the perfect time to get a haircut, buy some new clothes and generally celebrate the beauty that is all you. Relationships should get much easier as well.

AQUARIUS RISING

The New Moon in Scorpio shines in your career zone this week, inviting some sort of beginning of a chapter in this area of your life. It's perhaps time to step into a place of personal power – are you ready for it? Sure you are! People are really listening to what you have to say.

PISCES RISING

You may find yourself walking a brand-new spiritual path in the months to come, Pisces. The New Moon brings with it a desire to educate yourself, to learn, to grow and to expand. Don't be shy to reach out and connect with people who could support you and share your dreams.

