

YOUR WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

16 - 22 August, 2021

ARIES RISING

This is yet another week of being the most proactive person for the job, Aries! Nothing can stop you right now, and you're feeling very motivated to plan, prepare and take action. Just be careful you don't make mistakes or take unnecessary risks.

TAURUS RISING

With Venus changing signs and all this earthy energy going around, tasks, you'd probably feeling very sensual and indulgent, Taurus. You're also eager to talk and share ideas with like-minded people, even finding new connections to express yourself authentically with. Take a chance this week.

GEMINI RISING

This is the type of week that has you ready to make a major decision or call when it comes to your living situation. Although you're eager for action, and will take the steps you need to, just be aware that you could be rushing in where angels fear to tread.

CANCER RISING

What did last month's Full Moon bring up for you, Cancer? It's more of the same, and you may feel a touch anxious or mentally overhauled, so take some time out to breath. Financial decisions can be pressing right now too.

LEO RISING

This is the technical end to your birthday month, Leo, and it asks for a release, especially in the area of your relationships and a review of your personal values. You're in the mood to clean up house, however that looks for you.

VIRGO RISING

It's the (technical) start of your birthday season, Virgo! Happy Birthday to you! Now, you get to choose what to manifest, especially with action orientated Mars helping you to take some solid, exciting and change-making action!

LIBRA RISING

Venus is coming into your sign, Libra, so everyone better beware of your charms! Normally seductive, your energy is going to be off the hook and manifesting what you desire may feel effortless. The relationship to yourself is going to become more important, too. Self-love, anyone?

SCORPIO RISING

Uranus is going retrograde in your relationship zone, Scorpio, which can have old relationships pop up out of nowhere. This is just invitation for the universe to set things to bed, let go and reflect on the lessons.

SAGITTARIUS RISING

The second Full Moon in Aquarius can be an important one for you when it comes to shifting your narrative, Sagittarius. Sometimes, we need a different perspective to change the stories that we tell ourselves. Time to let go of outworn ideas.

CAPRICORN RISING

There's a lot of action in the earth signs this week, Capricorn, which has a direct impact in you. This particularly highlights the area of travel, growth and philosophy for you, and even education. Things can finally feel like they are going somewhere, which excites you.

AQUARIUS RISING

A Blue Moon in your sign, Aquarius - wow! This is a major release for you, and can bring up feelings of intensity and even crisis. It's time to let go - really let go. Never an easy lesson, though it can make you feel free and liberated.

PISCES RISING

With all the planets gathering in Virgo, your relationship zone, this area of your life is bound to take on more and more importance. Big decisions can be made, but so can big conflicts, so strive to speak with care and set up boundaries if you feel bullied.
