

YOUR WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

11 -17 July, 2022

ARIES RISING

Home and hearth are where it's at this week, even if you feel a bit pushed and pulled between career and family. You may achieve something big this week, something you've been working steadily towards. Celebrate it.

TAURUS RISING

Your ruler, Venus changes signs and moves into loving Cancer this week. This improves all family relationships for you and enhances communication. It's also a lovely time to take a short break away if you can manage it.

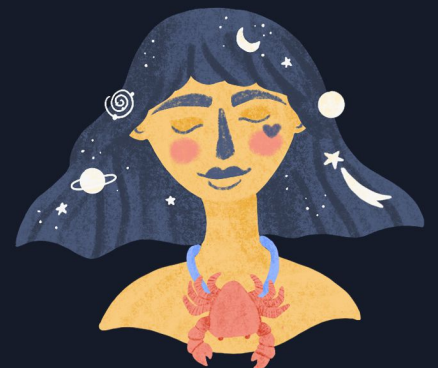

GEMINI RISING

Mercury, your ruler, is very active this week in your financial sector. Decisions need to be made but in order to make the right ones, you absolutely have to follow your gut. Trying to take a logical approach just won't help you.

CANCER RISING

A Full Moon in your opposite sign emphasizes relationships for you this week. There may be an ending of some kind, or perhaps you're navigating a compromise. Expect things to come a head this week.

LEO RISING

It's quite an emotional week ahead for you, as well as a quiet one. Everything seems to be churning up behind the scenes, and you may easily feel overwhelmed, so take it easy on yourself. Be kind to your inner child.

VIRGO RISING

Relationships this week could feel a little tricky and confusing, but as long as you're completely honest and open – especially at work – it will all work out in the end. Turn to your friends for comfort and nourishment this week, and let them envelop you in love.

LIBRA RISING

Your ruler, Venus, enters a new sign this week. She enhances your career and brings a creative, nurturing energy to this area. You may also feel like you're more valued than ever and building professional relationships should come easy.

SCORPIO RISING

This is one of the most spiritual weeks of the year for you with intuitive messages flooding in and filling you with joy. It's also a prime week for traveling or learning something you're deeply passionate about. Take advantage of the blessings all around you.

SAGITTARIUS RISING

This week could feel intensely emotional for you, and you might be prone to a few tears or two. The trick is to give into the feelings and allow yourself to experience them all before you can make it out to the other side.

CAPRICORN RISING

The Full Moon in your sign means that you've got a big accomplishment on your hands this week, whether personal or professional. Balance achievement and independence with relatedness, and don't forget to enjoy the love that you have.

AQUARIUS RISING

Saturn in your sign is being gifted with a lovely trine from Venus this week. This aspect is great for all relationships and one that may give you the ability to truly pursue your passions with commitment. Work could also be going very well for you at the moment.

PISCES RISING

Love, love, love – that's what this week is all about for you. Love for yourself, your children, your sweetheart and your passions. Love for the Divine and of your place in the world. Everything right now feels that much more touched with magic.